VOL. II.

PARIS, BOURBON COUNTY, KENTUCKY: TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1883.

NO. 179.

REV. W. H. FELIX will dedicate a new Baptist Church at Berry's Thanksgiving day.

DR. ED. RAY gathered a peck of hickory nuts and a rabbit from the same tree last Friday.

TURKEY feathers are selling here as follows: body, 3 cents per pound; wing, 12½ and tail, 25.

The faces of our Court-house clock have been painted black, and the dial figures made golden.

The Chautraus—Henrietta and Frank S.—are to appear in Lexington to-night and to-morrow night.

"BOB BURDETTE," the Burlington Hawk Eye humorist, will lecture here about the middle of December.

ON the docket of the Mercer county Circuit Court there are fourteen cases for "murder ready for trial this term."

Gov. KNOTT has issued a proclamation setting apart Thursday, the 29th inst., as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer.

A HUGE catamount was killed in Lincoln county last week. It's claws were several inches long and as sharp as needles.

THE Lexington Transcript says: Winchester is talking of waterworks. She should sink a sugar hoghead for a reservoir.

A NEW mammoth cave has been discovered at Marengo, Crawford county, Indiana, thirty-three miles from New Albany.

A SPECIAL train bearing the President, Secretary and other officials of the K. C., passed up and down the road Sunday.

MILES McKEE, of Cynthiana, has sold his agricultural implement house to George and Felix Ashbrook, and will go to farming.

Gov. KNOTT's Thanksgiving proclamation is only thirteen lines long, and yet it could be cut down to six and answer the purpose.

THE Coliseum in Cincinnati is now to be called "Heuck's New Opera House" and Heuck's will be called the People's Theatre.

JUDGE BARR has decided that a pensioner can not make a present of any money to his attorney; not even as an unconditioned gift.

FOR twenty dollars the Maysville Street Car Company sells season tickets, entitling the holder to ride at will for twelve months.

BIRDS are being slaughtered at such a fearful rate throughout the State that fears are entertained that none will be "left for seed" next year.

A GENTLEMAN in Simpson county treated a few of his friends to raspberries on Sunday last. They were of the second crop, fully ripe and delicious.

THE world did not come to an end last Thursday, according to promise. This world is filled with disappointments, but no matter about this last one.

LUTHER commemoration services were held in the Southern Presbyterian church last Sunday night. The large edifice was crowded to its utmost capacity.

C. A. DAUGHERTY and a force of hands are now engaged in painting the dome of our Court-house. Lots of men would not take the job at a dollar per minute.

LOUISE SILVESTER, who was billed to appear in Lexington last Saturday night, failed to do so, owing to severe illness. She was taken violently sick en route from Atlanta.

MRS. H. A. BUTLER, of Cane Ridge, has sold since the first of March, 1,500 eggs at 13½ cents per dozen, cash. She now offers for sale ten dozen good young hens at $3 per dozen.

THE Lexington Transcript, of Sunday says: John Miller, a tailor from Paris, was lodged in the station-house last night for stealing an overcoat from Mr. James Pepper, at the Phoenix.

MRS. ROBT. RANSDELL sold her residence last week, to John Thomas, of North Middletown, for $5,000. We understand that Mrs. Ransdell will purchase property in Lexington.

DICK BUSBY, who stole his wife's sister at Danville, was arrested at McKinney and Danville, and taken to the jail. He thanked the girl's father for his kindness in catching him so early.

A LEMON taken every morning with a little sugar or salt will break up chills and all malarial troubles. Try this remedy for about ten days and you'll feel like you've been born again.

THE Richmond Herald says that twenty-five drunken men were seen on their streets Court-day, and that whiskey was the direct cause of the killing. Richmond is a local option town, too.

M. H. CROWELL, the prominent Franklin county farmer, who is accused of criminal relations with an orphan girl, denounces the whole charge as false and wants public judgment suspended.

THE fire alarm was given about 10:30 o'clock Sunday night, when it was thought the fire was with us again, but it only proved to be sparks from the ruins of the old Hutchcraft warehouse.

At the great Minstrel Festival at the Music Hall, in Cincinnati, the week of January 7th over seven hundred performers will be seated upon the stage in the first part, with one hundred end men.

WESLEY EDWARDS, aged thirteen, shot his father accidentally in the thigh with a pistol, at Lexington, Friday. Old men should keep out of the way when they give their children pistols to play with.

THE Cynthiana Steam Laundry started up business yesterday, with a 4½ horse-power engine. Mr. Forman, the proprietor, will also erect a bath house attachment in a few weeks. Regular city airs, eh!

DAYTON, KY., having recently attained some fame from its beaches along the Ohio river, it is mildly intimated that a company is forming to have regular bathing-houses on the beaches there next Summer.

THE Cincinnati Southern Railway are selling round-trip tickets from Lexington to Chicago, for $7, good for ten days from date. This is the lowest rate ever offered between the two points. The usual fare one way is $11.75.

ELLIOTT, the murderer of Barnes, in Mercer county, has been caught in Lincoln county, where he has been going under an assumed name. He was taken into the Court-house just as the grand jury indicted him and his father for murder.

RANCK'S Guide to Lexington is on our desk. It is a very handsome little book, beautifully illustrated, and is gotten up with literary taste, and ought to not only be in the hands of all visiting strangers, but all Lexingtonians at both home and abroad.

PARIS came near having another cyclone Sunday night. The North winds blew and part of the tin roof was again taken off of Overby & Thomas' warehouse, a stone slab was blown from Tarr's warehouse, besides a great deal of damage having been done to fencing, &c.

TESTIMONY in the May case, on trial at Winchester, was closed Saturday at noon. Col. Breckenridge spoke yesterday, and Attorney Bronston was to have closed the case. May's friends think there will be a hung jury or fine and jail imprisonment. They hope for the latter instead of a hung jury.

THERE are 120 newspapers in the United States, of which the publishers, editors and chief contributors are negroes. Yet in the face of this fact, the Supreme Court went right ahead, and pronounced the civil rights bill unconstitutional. It looks very much as though the power of the press was slightly on the wane.

Geo. JACKSON, a colored citizen of Ruckerville, who had stood No. 1 for honesty and probity heretofore, has skipped out in consequence of the Sheriff finding Allen Turner's stolen hogs on his premises. The weather being too warm for slaughtering, the hogs were being well-fed and cared for in a very secure place.

THE Louisville Exposition closed Saturday. The earnings have more than paid the expenses. The capital stock expended is $245,000. The amount expended on the plant, that is, the building, shafting, belting, machinery and improvements, is $315,000. The earnings have paid this $700,000 debt, and the running expenses also.

TOM PAUL, successor to Paul & Conway, who keeps one of the most tasty and fashionable saloons in the bluegrass region, has a fine brand of cigars called "Our Mamie," in honor of little Mamie McArdle Conway, daughter of his former partner, who took the premium over sixteen entries at the Maysville fair. The boxes are embellished with a splendid photo of the premium baby, and the cigar is all that the brand purports it to be—first-class.

THE three men, John B. Trimble, Peter Long and Geo. Goldsmith who were arrested and placed in jail Thursday, the first named two for stealing two coats from a man named Corbin at Mrs. Dum's boarding house, and the last for aiding and abetting the same, had their examining trial yesterday morning before "Squires Isgrigg and Daniels," and were held over to await the action of circuit court, in $100 bail each. In default of which they were remanded to jail.

SAMUEL B. JONES, aged ninety-five years, and a soldier of the war of 1812, died at his home in Fleming county last week. He was at River Raisen and Fort Meigs. He was one of the regular attendants of the old soldier's meeting at this place. He was born in 1789, where this city now stands, and migrated to Fleming county in 1800, where he twice married and became the father of twelve children. His death leaves but one veteran of 1812 in Fleming—Wm. Foudray, now aged about 96.

A New Demon and Pythias.

In the summer of 1861, Henry Kraft and Henry Row, two young men from Louisville, not related to each other, enlisted together in Company I, 4th Kentucky Infantry, C. S. A., at Nashville, Tenn. They messed and slept together during the entire war, were side by side in every battle in which their command participated; were discharged and returned home together at the close of the war, and have worked side by side in the same shop ever since—a period of more than eighteen years. At the reunion of the old brigade at Lexington, on the 5th of September last, they marched arm in arm in the procession, the only representatives of their company, save one. Can the annals of either army furnish a parallel?

Fuller Particulars of the McGee Tragedy.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 8.—A reporter arrived late to-night from the scene, and details the circumstances as follows: Magee had gained the general dislike of his neighbors on account of his violent disposition, and his treatment of them was the subject of much comment. The children on returning home this afternoon and opening the door of the sitting room saw their mother lying dead upon the floor. Stricken with fear, they ran screaming to the house of a neighbor. A party soon gathered, and fearing violence on account of Magee's nature, they armed and then repaired to the house. In the sitting room they found the body of Mrs. Magee lying upon her face, with a terrible gunshot wound in her breast, her cloak was drawn partly on and her hat lying nearby. In the bedroom adjoining was the daughter, Nanine, crouched down in a corner, cold and still, with a double-barreled shot-gun, with both chambers empty. Passing to the door at the foot of the staircase, the party found it fastened. Forcing the lock, they mounted the stairs, and in the nearest room, stretched upon a bed, with an empty morphine bottle at his side, lay the mute author of the awful tragedy. The immediate circumstances incident to the tragedy cannot be known, as the lips of the witnesses are sealed in death; but the belief is general that it was the work of Magee's evil passion, which had more than once before threatened some domestic calamity.
